iVisionary

In 2011, the premature death of Steve Jobs, co-founder and chairman of Apple, prompted an overwhelming international outpouring of grief. Tributes to the creative genius behind the iconic iPhone and iPad, included former US President Barack Obama who said 'He changed the way each one of us sees the world'. One of the most poignant and moving tributes came from the singer Neil Diamond who Tweeted just one word; 'iSad'.

For many, Steve Jobs will be remembered for an inspirational speech he gave to students graduating from Stanford University in 2005. In that speech he spoke candidly about living with cancer.

'When I was 17' he said I read a quote that went something like; 'if you live each day as if it was your last, some day you'll most certainly be right'. It made an impression on me and since then for the last 33 years, I have looked in the mirror every morning and asked myself; 'If today were the last day of my life, would I want to do what I am about to do today?'. And whenever the answer has been 'no' for too many days in a row, I know I need to change something'.

'Remembering that I will be dead soon' he continued 'is the most important tool I've ever encountered to help me make the big choices in life. Because almost everything - all external expectations, all pride, all fear of embarrassment or failure - these things just fall away in the face of death, leaving only what is truly important. No-one wants to die; even people who want to go to heaven don't want to die to get there. And yet death is the destination we all share. No-one has ever escaped it. And that is as it should be, because death is very likely the single best invention of life. It is life's change agent'.

These extraordinary words are so counter-cultural. We avoid all talk of death. And yet death is part of life, and a healthy respect for death can invest life with meaning and significance. An embracing of death led Steve Jobs to inspire a generation and change a world.

November is a season of remembering. We will wear poppies to remember the Fallen. At services on All Souls and All Saints we will light candles in memory of those who have recently died and read the names of the departed whose lives are part of our church's story. Perhaps during this season of remembering we should each dare to stare death in the mirror and ask ourselves 'if today was my last day.... what would I do differently?'

How we respond to that simple question could change our lives, and just possibly could change the world. Rev Alan

Registers

There were no weddings, funerals or baptisms in October so we're sharing some of the special celebrations enjoyed at St Mary's over the past few months

Joe & Georgia were married in September (top left), while Aurora & Seren can be seen with Mum & Dad at their baptism also in September (top centre). In August we had three lovely boys christened. Sebastian, Theodore and Barnaby are with Mum & Dad outside the church (top right).

Becoming a Friend

The Friends of Hertingfordbury St Mary was granted charitable status just before Christmas 2023 (Charity number 1206041).

The purpose of The Friends is to raise money for the restoration and preservation of the church building and churchyard. The funds are not for the day to day running of the church. That's the responsibility of the congregation. We should like to make sure that this beautiful church is here for future generations.

Membership forms, with the FoHSM account details, are available inside the church by the south door should you like to become a Friend or make a donation. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you would like more information. Thank you for your support.

Welwyn Garden City Male Voice Choir in Concert

We had a wonderful concert back in June when The Welwyn Garden City Male Voice Choir came to sing for us and again helped to raise significant funds for St Mary's church. At that concert they introduced many new faces of local men who were going to sing as a separate choir in aid of Prostate Cancer UK, and were clearly excited at the prospect. As a result we were also able to make a donation towards this very worthwhile charity and this new choir sang in two further concerts along with four other similar choirs and raised a staggering £100,000 for the charity.

Many of these men enjoyed their experience so much that they joined the WGC Male Voice Choir resulting in a doubling of the singing membership! We are delighted therefore that they are returning to St Mary's on Friday 13th December to provide a pre-Christmas treat for us all. They will be singing some of their newly learned repertoire plus a selection of Christmas songs and carols, some with audience participation! They are also hoping to involve local primary school pupils with some of the Christmas numbers.

Do come along, join in the fun and get in the Christmas spirit! Tickets for this concert will be on sale from the beginning of November priced at £10 (£5 under 16 and under 10's free)

Helen Harris – Pastoral Visitor

We are very proud and thankful that Helen was commissioned to join our Pastoral Visitors team at our service on Sunday 6th October. Here she is with Rev Alan and Christine after the commissioning. She now joins Kay, Helen and Christine to continue the wonderful caring work they do within our community. We are so grateful Helen

Churchyard Trails

Do you know where to find Seymour's Rabbit or the Root Cross in the churchyard? Where can you see Holly and Ivy growing together? Where would you find all sorts of wildflowers - Ladies Bedstraw, Bird's Foot trefoil and Self Heal all growing together?

Discover the secret places of St Mary's Churchyard with two new churchyard trails.

As part of their work, Eco Church members have been developing two churchyard trails to encourage people of all ages to enjoy St Mary's beautiful outside spaces and spend time in thoughtful reflection. There is a Nature Trail with Reflections and a Tree Quest for children featuring the Holly, Horse Chestnut, Yew, Sycamore, Elder and Ivy. Why not try them out?

They are on the website at Churchyard Trails | St Mary's Hfordbury \(hertingfordburystmary.org\)) and there are some copies in the South Porch.

Talking of our churchyard

We are always looking for new volunteers to help cut the grass. It takes place twice a month on a Saturday morning hopefully now to coincide with the weddings at St Marys of which we have 11 this year! In fact one of our helpers was married here recently and he and his two best men helped cut the grass on the morning of the wedding! Please let David Gorton know if you can help and you also get a picnic lunch!

From the Pulpit

We thought it might be interesting to share occasionally some of the sermons delivered at our services, not only by Revs Alan & Bill, but also by our inspiring team of lay preachers. So this month we start with the latest from Geoff Oates

“Go to Hell! (Do not pass Go)”

Reflections on Mark 9 v 47: “And if your eye causes you to stumble, pluck it out. It is better for you to enter the kingdom of God with one eye than to have two eyes and be thrown into hell”.

Over the centuries the Church has allowed some very unfortunate misconceptions about Hell to get hold of our imaginations. The art of painters like Hieronymus Bosch and Peter van Breughel have given us a vision of Hell as a flaming subterranean torture chamber where Satan torments the wicked for eternity.

Regrettably, in English we use the one word, Hell, to translate three different words in the Bible. In the Old Testament, Hebrew ‘Sheol’ and its Greek equivalent ‘Hades’ are simply the place where the dead go. Whilst it is presented as a rather cheerless place, it has no real associations with reward and punishment. It certainly isn’t the spiritual dystopia of mediaeval imagination. In fact, the Old Testament really doesn’t concern itself very much with what happens when we die.

When Jesus talks about hell in Mark’s Gospel, the word he uses in his own language is Gehenna. You can all go to Gehenna if you like. Literally. It’s on Google Maps. It’s a deep valley or ravine just outside the old walls of Jerusalem, the Valley of Hinnom in modern Hebrew. It’s rather pretty suburban parkland now, overlooked by the old city walls around the Gate of Joppa. But in Jesus time, and for centuries before, Gehenna was the city rubbish dump, the municipal landfill site.

Gehenna is outside the city wall. You don’t want your smelly, rotting rubbish inside the city, do you? You throw it over the wall. Like most places where organic waste is piled up in large quantities, the tip would constantly catch fire and burn in a slow, smouldering, smoky way. Was that the inspiration for the everlasting flames of hell?

When we know all this, Jesus’ rather gruesome image about cutting off a foot or tearing out an eye and throwing it away, can suddenly make a lot more sense. Throw your eyeball on the rubbish tip, it’s better than all of you landing on the rubbish tip. I think Jesus might even have got a laugh for this line!

So this passage isn’t about sending people to Hell. It’s about the Kingdom of God, the place that Jesus wants to lead us to. The place that is so amazingly good that it is worth almost any sacrifice, any radical act to get onto the right side of the wall, the right side of the frontier. Would you give your right arm – or your right eye – to get there?

We hear each week the stories of countless thousands of desperate people who make their way to the frontiers and coastlines of Europe and the USA each week? People who make unimaginable sacrifices for their hopes of a life of greater security or prosperity.

How much would we sacrifice to secure our citizenship in the Kingdom of God? It's not a Kingdom with clear geographical boundaries. There are no walls or fences defining its borders – though sadly there are some Christians who seem to think there ought to be. It's any place and any time where God is acknowledged as King, where God's rule, God's wise and loving laws, are recognised and lived out. Who wouldn't want to go there?

Let us imagine ourselves as eager, impatient immigrants heading for the Kingdom of God. We've got our Visa – Jesus himself has sorted that out for us, so we don't need top worry about passport control; but there are still a few formalities to attend to at the frontier. There is no customs union between Gehenna and the Kingdom of God, and there are a few things you can't bring with you, things that have no place in the Kingdom of God. And if you want that better life, you're going to have to leave them behind. If you want to cross over, throw them in the rubbish bin over there. Not because of some arbitrary law of the divine immigration office, but because you can't live the life of a citizen of the Kingdom of God until you've got rid of them.

There is no compromise. You cannot just offer to pay more for excess baggage, you cannot offer to pay customs duty on it. You must leave it behind, throw it in the rubbish.

Greed. Prejudice. Pride. Lust. Dishonesty. Privilege. Indifference. Bitterness and anger. Unrepented and unresolved conflicts. Unforgiven injuries.

There's no room in the Kingdom of God for any of these. And I know that giving such things up is seriously hard. For many of us, these burdens have taken deep root in our identities. They feel like part of who we are. Maybe it is not too great an exaggeration to speak of cutting off your hand or tearing out your eye.

What might you need to cut off and throw in the bin?

Whatever has no place in the Kingdom of God is rubbish. But it doesn't have to hold you back. It belongs on the tip - outside the walls. Let it burn away there. You don't want it. This is not an image of punishment, it is an image of liberation.

I wonder what Jesus would say about rubbish today, 2,000 years on? I think he'd take a rather different, and perhaps more cheerful approach.

We're not supposed to throw things on the rubbish tip anymore, are we? Especially not organic waste – like hands and feet and eyes. Our local authorities try very hard to reduce the amount of stuff we throw into landfill sites. They fill our gardens with multicoloured bins and tell us to sort our rubbish out. Because so much of it can be recycled – refurbished, reprocessed, and used again in new and different ways.

Organic waste is turned to compost. Nutrients for new growth, for new life. Other waste streams go to power stations and bring heat and light to our homes. New power from old rubbish.

I think Jesus would have liked those ideas. Don't let your life end up on the rubbish tip. Recycle it. Let God make it new, transform it, make it ready to use again, in different and surprising ways. New life, new power. But above all, a creation fit and ready to live as a citizen of the Kingdom of God.

Geoff Oates, Lay Preacher

Le Café Français

Saturday 28th September

C'était formidable! The church looked wonderful decked in red, white and blue. People arrived, having passed a Tricolore, ready to enter the spirit of our French café including wearing berets and Breton striped tops. The brocante, lavender and cheese stalls were busy with long queues down the aisle. People were eager to buy raffle tickets for the large basket filled to the brim with French food and wine. The refreshments team did an excellent job serving croissants, chocolate éclairs, frangipane cake, lemon tarts and apple cake.

A huge thank you to everyone who made our first French café such a great success. We are looking forward to a return of the café in 2025 when we will ensure we have more patisseries including pain au chocolats!

All-Age Harvest Festival Service at St Mary's

School Birthday Celebrations

We had a very special day in school to celebrate 175 years of our school being here in Birch Green. Although the history of our school has roots much further back than this, the Victorian part of our current school location was built in 1849.

It was lovely to have so many families, governors and trustees join us for our time of Collective Worship at the start of the day. We also had Bishop Jane (Bishop of Hertford) in school for our Collective Worship time which included a special blessing for our school and its community.

The children, and adults, all looked fantastic as they came to school in Victorian costumes. During the school day, the children explored artefacts lent to us by the British Schools Museum (in Hitchin) and took part in different Victorian themed activities. There were also opportunities for the children to look at artefacts from our own school history collection, including some classes recreating old school photographs at the front of the school.

To end the day, we came together in Cowper Hall and sang 'Happy Birthday' before enjoying some birthday cake. Each child was given a special birthday badge as little memento of our day.

Later that week, we had a special birthday photograph taken of our school, with children and staff making a big 175 on the field.

Autumn Litter Pick

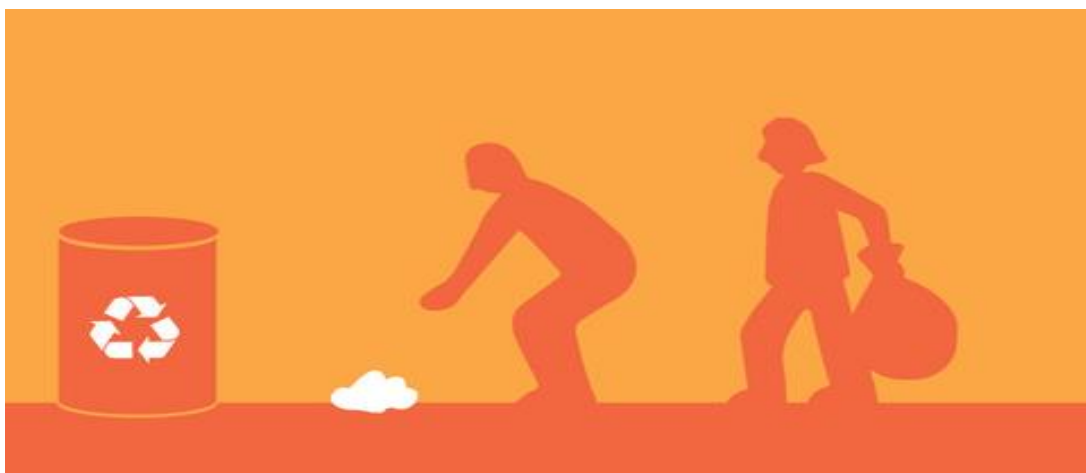

The autumn litter pick was held on Saturday 12th October and, as you can see from the photo, sadly another bountiful haul including a garden chair, a timber bench top, a lorry wheel arch, a rake and a bed! There were also the usual cans, bottles, takeaway containers and nitrous oxide canisters. There was also a horrendous fly tipping of black sacks of insulation foam at the pumping station between Letty Green and Birch Green and I believe this has now been reported to the Council. The 1 ton dumpy bag of soil at Cole Green has also been reported.

It turned out we were very lucky with the weather and managed to avoid the rain - mild, overcast with a gentle breeze; perfect litter picking weather! A great effort and thanks again to all our volunteers and also to Rochfords who allow us to meet in their carpark and of course the White Horse who provide the refreshments.

Anyone who would like to join us at a future litter pick, please contact Sarah Sullivan at sullivanpipers@icloud.com.

Volunteers needed to open/close St. Mary's

As part of St. Mary's commitment to be 'Here with you, Here for you' we are pleased that we have been able to keep the church open during the day. However, to do so requires volunteers to open and close the building every day. As a village if we want the church to be open – and I think we do - we need some new volunteers. It is not an onerous task. Please give serious thought to joining the rota and speak to one of the Churchwardens. Thank you for considering this

WALTER WALLINGER CHARITY

Walter Wallinger died in 1709 leaving "Four hundred pounds for the placing of poor children of this Parish as Apprentices."

Times have moved on and the trustees of the charity now take the view that the income from the endowment should be used to give grants for educational purposes to people under 25 who have for at least two years lived, or been educated, within 'the ancient parish of Hertingfordbury' which today roughly means Hertingfordbury village and the five Greens and outlying houses.

Something of the order of £1500 is available annually. Typically grants are one-off payments not exceeding £450 for something that will help with the applicant's education in a broad sense, such as a musical instrument, specialist equipment, a field or other course. Grants are available to anyone in school, FE or Higher Education.

An application form is obtainable from Robin Bishop, the Chairman of Walter Wallinger's charity at robinhbishop@gmail.com
